

Arctic Symbiosis Sustainability and Better Habitat Design

Richard Carbonnier

Abstract Enriched by living in the Arctic, the author sets grounds for a research on sustainability and better habitat design. This paper recollects history of the Inuit people and transposes their traditional ways and knowledge into a contemporary model of an ice dome.

Keywords Inuit, arctic, symbiosis, interdependency, sustainability, better habitat design, ice dome